GOOD UNIVERSITIES GUIDE 2021

A new era

business

It's our business of business, kind of graduate.

to rethink business education.

We are reimagining the way business education is being delivered with the new Bachelor of Commerce allowing you to complete your degree in two years instead of three.

Setting new directions for Business

Preparing the workforce for the future is considered a major strategic challenge, which has taken on a new significance given the recent changes to the way society operates. With governments focusing on skill-building, and increasing employer demands for ‘work-ready’ graduates, education providers are under pressure to do things differently.

Universities are at the forefront of business education, facilitating supportive and engaging learning environments to develop specialised capabilities and personal skills. But business students, their families, and governments, expect education providers to also deliver on employability outcomes that enable graduates to navigate the evolving workplace and its dynamic nature.

There is an abundance of evidence to support the view that employers are satisfied with graduate technical skills, but they are less satisfied with those skills which support work readiness and employability outcomes. A lack of experience in professional work environments is contributing to this perception. Work experience is highly regarded by employers particularly if the experience is in a professional setting. Therefore, it is vital for education providers to integrate the practical application of knowledge into traditional business courses.

BUSINESS EDUCATION FOR THE MODERN-DAY LEARNER

Focusing on modern learning approaches that are optimised via digital learning platforms is one of the paths education providers can take to ensure student skillsets are better aligned with evolving student and business needs. At Murdoch University, we are using virtual immersive simulation experiences embedded within the Bachelor of Commerce to test technical and subject skills and promote awareness and motivation to widen personal aptitudes and capabilities.

Another path is to design courses that provide more opportunities for students to engage in professional and authentic business practice experiences. Courses should be co-designed and co-delivered with industry experts.

The more education institutions can enhance graduate outcomes, the better for students, education providers, employers and the global community. This approach equips business graduates for the rapidly changing world of work at the start of their business degree, not as an after-thought as graduation approaches. This is the cornerstone of how the Murdoch Business School is transforming education.

CO-DESIGNED WITH INDUSTRY FOR REAL-WORLD EXPERIENCES

Real-world experiences are an integral part of our courses and a required component for all students in the Bachelor of Commerce program. Collaborations between Murdoch Business School academics and industry professionals with experiences in banking, engineering, education, insurance, and mining is driving the co-design and co-development of an innovative curriculum aligned with industry standards and expectations, relevant for the future graduate.

Participation in a range of professional experiences is used to deliver an innovative business education. This ranges from case-studies to client projects, field trips, business simulations and workplace internships. This approach is coupled with non-traditional assessments and a focus on developing digital knowledge where innovation, creativity and problem solving is used.

The Murdoch Business School is creating a model of collaboration that is taking the best of academic and professional expertise and applying it to the challenges that business graduates are likely to encounter as they transcend into the workforce of the future. So, when the time comes, they are prepared for work that employers value and industry needs.

“ The core reason that I decided to study at Murdoch was because of the people. The atmosphere, staff and students are all extremely friendly, helpful and vibrant.

While I was at high school I was unsure of what I really wanted to do. I initially chose to study teaching, but after my second year I decided it wasn't for me. I decided to switch to commerce because of all the global job opportunities. Travelling and working abroad is something I have always valued and placed high on my list of priorities. With an internationally recognised commerce degree from Murdoch University it makes it much easier for my dreams to become a reality. ” “ Murdoch’s range of alternative entry pathways drew me to apply. After finishing Year 12 without the ATAR I had hoped for I entered Murdoch through the Pre-Law program. The program was excellent and allowed me to experience an undergraduate law unit before commencing my degree.

I was drawn to law because of its broad application in our society. This was attractive to me as I hadn’t pinned down specifically what career I wanted in high school. There are countless practice areas and career opportunities in the legal field. The Bachelor of Law course offers a wealth of opportunities to students upon graduation. ”

Despite a challenging school environment, there's plenty of time to enjoy everything California has to offer. Find your path

Enrolling into university is a big decision, especially if you are unsure whether you'll meet the admission requirements. The first thing you need to do is find out which of our admission pathways you are eligible for, and how they work.

WHAT ENTRY REQUIREMENTS WILL I NEED TO MEET TO STUDY AT MURDOCH?

To gain admission into an undergraduate course at Murdoch, you will need a Western Australian Certificate of Education (WACE), a selection rank of 70 or higher (depending on your chosen course) and you will need to meet our English Language Competency (ELC) requirements. There are multiple ways to demonstrate your ELC and achieve a selection rank of 70.

MEETING ACADEMIC AND ENGLISH LANGUAGE COMPETENCY (ELC) REQUIREMENTS

The most common ways for a domestic student to meet ELC requirements are:

- Two years of Year 11 and 12 or VET studied in Australia (or a combination of both), or
- A minimum scaled score of 50 or higher in ATAR English (or equivalent), or
- A score of 140 or higher in the Written English Component of the Special Tertiary Admission Test (STAT).

ACHIEVING A SELECTION RANK

A selection rank of 70 can be achieved by attaining a raw or adjusted ATAR of 70, completing an accredited Certificate IV or higher, achieving an International Baccalaureate (IB) score of 24 or higher, or by using a portfolio. You can also achieve a 70 selection rank by completing one of Murdoch's enabling courses. Some courses, like Engineering, Law and Veterinary Science have higher selection ranks, which can be achieved by higher ATAR or IB scores, higher level VET qualifications, or previous university study.

To find out more, visit murdoch.edu.au/courses

AM I ELIGIBLE FOR MURDOCH RISE?

At Murdoch we offer Murdoch RISE, a selection rank adjustment aimed at supporting access to university for students from regional, low socio-economic, or Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander backgrounds. It can help you get into your preferred course by increasing your Murdoch selection rank. There's no need to register – if you're eligible, the adjustment factor is automatically added to your raw ATAR score when you apply to Murdoch.

To find out what schools and postcodes are eligible for the RISE adjustment, visit murdoch.edu.au/admissionpathways

WHAT DO I DO IF I DON'T MEET THE ENTRY REQUIREMENTS TO STUDY AT MURDOCH?

If you don't meet the entry requirements that's okay – we offer a range of pathways to study at Murdoch, including our range of enabling pathway courses. Our enabling pathway courses will help you transition to uni and boost your academic skills.

PORTFOLIO ENTRY PATHWAY

If you're ready to pursue your university goals but don't currently meet our standard admission requirements, our portfolio entry pathway could be the ideal option for you. If you're a school leaver, you can demonstrate your eligibility through your final Year 12 subject results and/or extra-curricular activities that relate to your desired course. All portfolio applicants need to demonstrate English Language Competency (ELC). Portfolio entry is also available to mature age applicants and may be suitable for those who can demonstrate skills and experience related to the area in which they would like to study.

ENABLING PATHWAY COURSES

We have a range of enabling courses available, taking into account your high school results, previous studies, and work and life experience. Our pathway courses will help you develop the skills you need to study at a university level. Upon successful completion, you'll be eligible to study most undergraduate courses with a selection rank of 70.

OnTrack

Our most popular enabling pathway course is OnTrack, a free 14-week course run at our Perth, Mandurah and Rockingham campuses.

OnTrack will provide you with a supportive adult learning environment in which you can develop effective study habits and learning strategies as well as the tuition needed to develop your academic skills to an undergraduate level. You will be given assistance to explore an undergraduate degree program that matches your aspirations and a network of peer and academic support at Murdoch University.

FlexiTrack

If you'd like to study a pathway course like OnTrack but can't commit to a full-time workload or would prefer to study online, then FlexiTrack may be the course for you.

With the same entry requirements and course content as OnTrack, FlexiTrack is our free online course for students who do not qualify for direct entry. The course can be studied intensively over 10 weeks, full-time over 20 weeks, or part-time over 12 months. With numerous intakes available, you could begin your studies in February, April, July, September or November.

OnTrack Sprint

If you don't quite get the ATAR results you need, OnTrack Sprint could be the right option for you. It's a free, intensive 4-week course which commences every year in January at our Perth campus.

OnTrack Sprint will help you to develop effective study habits and learning strategies and build your academic skills to an undergraduate level in a supportive environment. If you successfully complete this course you could apply to start one of our degrees in Semester 1, at the same time as your high school friends (excluding nursing).

To be eligible, you'll need a selection rank between 60 and 69.95 and have met English Language Competency (ELC) requirements within the last 18 months or have a selection rank of 70 or higher within the last 18 months and be unable to demonstrate ELC.

K-Track

K-Track is our free 14-week on-campus course designed to enable Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander students to qualify for entry into an undergraduate degree. The course is tailored specifically for students who would not otherwise qualify for entry.

Through a series of units, you'll explore the concepts of communication, collaborative work practices and critical thinking. You will also be introduced to academic writing styles, referencing, essay writing and constructing arguments.

“After a successful career in sales and marketing, my dream of entrepreneurship came true.”

I'm co-founder and COO at VetDB. It is the most exciting, exhilarating, and stressfully demanding thing I've ever done. And I love it.

My career started with Red Bull in my last semester at Murdoch, where I worked in sales, marketing, and brand management over a nine-year stint.

I feel like I've always had an entrepreneurial side and an itch to get into business myself. With VetDB, our team has developed a cloud ecosystem and software platform that connects previously siloed health systems. It enables the automated, accurate recording of data and provides access to vital information and medical histories at the moment the animal is being attended to.

I met my business partner, Steve, on my first day at university, when we moved into the same flat at the Student Village. I had just arrived from Cape Town and Steve had flown in from Hong Kong. The Student Village was a great landing pad, and it provided the best possible thing for me.

After years of friendship and following our own separate career paths, we came together to solve the patient-data disconnect problem. Creating something that never existed before and changing the status quo for the better is a fantastic feeling.

I always imagined running my own company. In every class or assignment, I'd put it through the filter of what I would do in my company. It was rare that I'd picture myself working in a corporate environment or for someone else.

I chose Murdoch because of the culture and community I'd heard existed on campus. I was moving countries, so making new friends and connections was important to me. Murdoch's Bachelor of Commerce provided a lot of flexibility in the first year, so I enjoyed being able to experience numerous facets of commerce before locking in a particular path.

The way my degree was structured and how I was able to tailor elements of it to suit my interests has provided me with a solid multidisciplinary foundation of knowledge of the business landscape that I apply to my role daily.

I believe that curiosity is one of my more valuable traits, and Murdoch fostered that. In my opinion, curiosity leads to multiple interests and diverse skillsets. And having diverse skills and experiences allows you to see a problem or opportunity from more than one point of view and, ultimately, be more dynamic and adaptable to address it.
